OUR HERITAGE

The Marlow "Outlaws" have an appropriate name. The city of Marlow was named after the Marlow Brothers who were supposed to be outlaws.

The Marlow Brothers were Charlie, Epp (sometimes known as Abb), Boone George, and Alf.

The late Dr. Dolph Montgomery in an article appearing in the Marlow Review of December 4, 1919, states that the Marlows came to the Indian Territory about 1866, but the date when they came to Marlow is indefinite. They lived in a half dugout in the north part of Marlow, which was located in a grove of oak trees and was for a long time known as the Marlow Grove. Dr. Montgomery states that this dugout was located about six blocks north of Main Street just on the east side of the Rock Island Railroad. Another source states that the dugout was located on the east side of Wildhorse Creek about one block north of the Park. The Chisholm Trail ran near this location.

In 1880, they sold their holdings to Bill Wade, who came up from Bellevue, Texas. After leaving Marlow, the Brothers went to Graham, Texas, but it seems that Boone spent most of his time in the Indian Territory after that. He was accused of crime, and in attempting his arrest Boone shot Sheriff Wallace of Young County Texas, but the sheriff recovered. Boone came back to Indian Territory and was hiding on Hell Creek southwest of Marlow. Three of his supposed friends were looking after him. A large reward was offered, and these supposed friends claimed that he died, and they took him back to Graham in a wagon. They were arrested for the murder of Boone. These parties who took Boone to Graham still have relatives in this vicinity, and perhaps it would be inappropriate to give their names.

The other Marlow Brothers were arrested for attempting to kill Sheriff Wallace. Sheriff Wallace exonerated all of them except Boone. However, the Brothers had many enemies and when the officers were taking them from Graham to Weatherford, claiming that there was danger of mob violence at Graham, a mob attacked. The Brothers were shackled together two and two. Two of the Marlow Brothers were killed immediately, and the two that were not killed were shackled to their dead Brothers. Those still living grabbed the guns of the officers and repulsed the mob, killing several of the mob. They were compelled to cut off the ankles of their dead brothers in order to free themselves. They fled to Colorado. Later they were tried but were found not guilty.

Several of the mob who attacked were tried for conspiracy in the United States Court. Judge McCormick, in passing sentence on the mobsters, said, "This is the first time in the annals of history when unarmed prisoners shackled together ever repelled a mob. Such cool courage that preferred to fight against such great odds and die, if at all, in glorious battle rather than die ignominiously by a frenzied mob, deserves to be commemorated in song and history."

This case was appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States, and Solicitor General Taft, later President of the United States, presented the case on behalf of the government.

The two Marlow Brothers who were not killed later went back to Colorado and have not been heard from since.

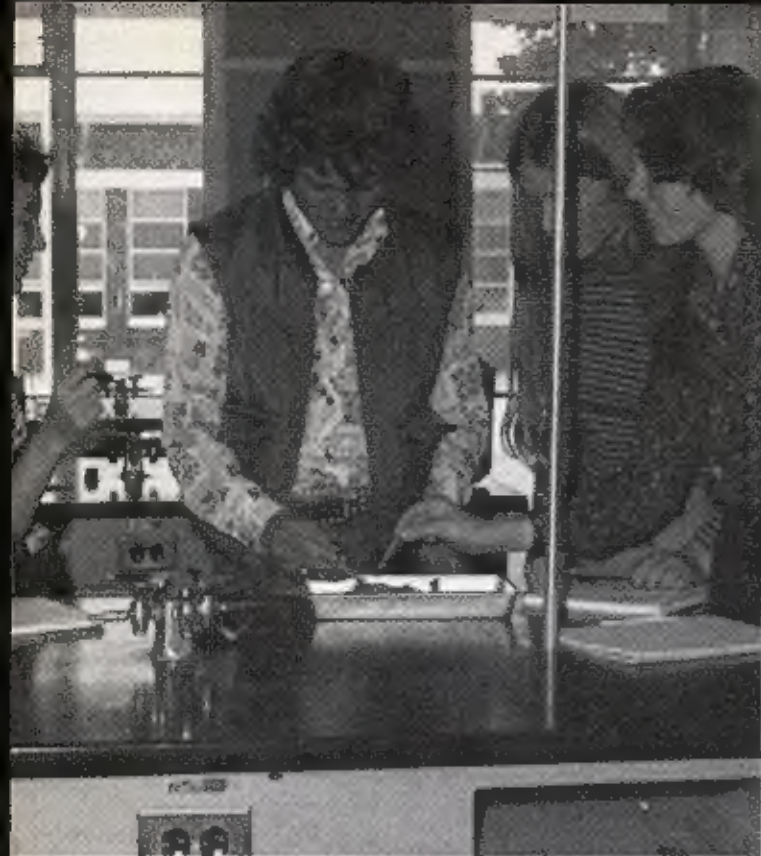

The writer has prepared a more extensive article on this subject which will be given to the Marlow High School, and which will be available to those who desire to pursue the matter further. The School also will be furnished a copy of the Article by Dr. Dolph Montgomery which appeared in the Marlow Review.

The information here given was obtained from Dr. Montgomery's article, from Charley Wade of Comanche. Jim Keith of Addington, Lem Tittle of Mangum, and Bill Baker of Ringling.

It appears that the Marlow Brothers were extremely rough characters; but I am informed that many people in Young County, Texas, did not consider them to be outlaws.

Mr. Dean Karns- Activities Director, Transportation Director, Assistant High School Principal, and Track Coach.

As a school year draws to a close and we survey the past and look to the future, let us all consider the importance of getting an education. There has never been a time in the recorded history when change in the affairs of the world has taken place at such a fast rate. The students must prepare for a world vastly different from that known today.

It is indeed a challenge and a pleasure to be responsible for meeting the educational needs of the youth of Marlow. Especially with the new demands, changes and innovations coming each year. The faculty looked at life long learning techniques in the classroom. This is somewhat a new concept in teaching methods. Looking at different concepts makes all realize the need for change.

Our best wishes go with each of you in your individual endeavors to achieve to the limits of your abilities, talents and dreams.

Scott Ousley

This has been a year marked with many accomplishments. Each of you should feel very proud of the way your classes have worked along side of each other so that your school could function successfully. It is the team spirit that has enabled us to enjoy a truly educational experience.

It takes mature men and women to put aside barriers of class competition and individual differences so that main goals can be realized. And, the attitude that each of you have expressed this year — one of determination and cooperativeness — has made it successful. An atmosphere of getting along with one another and being a unified body is reflected in every event in which our school participates.

Each of you have served your school well, and this yearbook serves as a special salute to your individual talents and abilities. Let me take this opportunity to wish you success in the future ahead of you and give you encouragement to begin facing that journey.

TO THE GRADUATE

I'll remember you
Through the passage of time.
Though miles may separate us,
You'll remain in my mind.
And if, in the future,
These days are but an
ember,
Cherish in your heart
Those you remember,
For this stage of your life
Is almost over; it's done.
It is as they say:
We can never return.

STATE NATIONAL BANK

Marlow, Okla

After graduation you will find many changes as time passes. You are preparing to meet these challenges. You must prepare for this each day.

Some of you will remain in Marlow; it is a good place to live and a good place to work. Our industry is growing. Some of you will go to other places. Many professions will be followed, and it is our hope that success will come to each of you.

We change from year to year, preparing to service your banking needs better. We continually add to our plant, and add to our personnel, to better serve you and your banking needs.

We wish for all of you a happy, healthful, and prosperous life.

Scott,

You a real cute & sweet guy.
We've real had alot of great fun.
Twelve years of it! I'll never forget you alwayed turned your desk over in first grade. ^{HA!}
But it was all fun and I hope there's more to come. It's seems so weird us being seniors, I'm really gona miss seeing you every day. Oh! And smelling that excellent cologne. Anyway, I'll never forget you and I hope everything goes your way.

Be good,

Love ya lots,
Sherria
